

Novelties Announcement Kato produces 2022 the first freight wagons

Dear friends of the Rhaetian Railway,
Kato/NOCH delights and surprises with very attractive new rolling stock, including some new designs. We have sifted through the information and compiled it for you.
We hope you enjoy reading
Yours

Kato-NOCH

Two new advertising locomotives of the Rhaetian Railway adorn the novelty sheet of the company NOCH. The manufacturer of the models is Kato.
According to information from Wangen, the locomotives are available at short notice.
We have already ordered a first series.
As usual, these are one-time editions and the number of pieces is limited.
We offer the models in standard and narrow gauge versions.

Kato

In addition to expected locomotive variants, Kato surprises with completely new designs of two well-known freight wagons.
The container wagons are used in two- and four-axle versions on the RhB network. Popular loads are the swap bodies of the Coop company and the Swiss Post PTT, which are offered in several variants. Individual containers round off the range and can also be used as decorative elements.

The manufacturer's new product information indicates a delivery date of summer this year, so that availability in Germany can be expected from the end of summer.

We offer the models both in standard and narrow gauge, as far as this is technically possible with the new designs.

Features

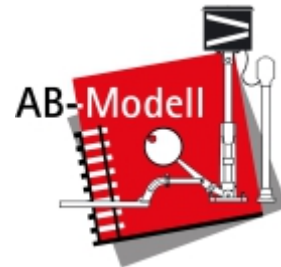

The plastic models have a very high level of production and quality, so that excellent vehicles can be expected.

Nevertheless, the first product photos on the web indicate that the two-axle wagon will not have an open frame. The model railway enthusiast will have to live with this, especially as the wagons are likely to be loaded most of the time and this small restriction is not very visible.

Container

Which is which, you ask yourself involuntarily: container or swap body? The explanation is simple. Container is the collective term for transportable, mostly standardised boxes. Swap bodies are also containers that are transported either by rail (for longer distances) or by truck (for fine distribution). A crane or a large reach stacker is needed for reloading.

Prices

As usual, we have rounded the recommended retail price down a little to whole or half euros, so that there is already a price advantage of up to 3.25% depending on the model.

Furthermore, we offer all pre-orderers an additional 3% early bird discount. To do this, your order must be received by us by 28.02.2022. The discount will be shown directly on our order confirmations.

All prices shown in the left column include German VAT, which is currently 19%. Deliveries to non-EU countries are made without charging VAT. You will find the net amounts, among other things, in our price list, which you can download from our website.

We can only send tax-free deliveries to you as an insured parcel or registered goods post.

Couplers

Some models are equipped with the Kato close coupling as standard, others with the N standard coupling.

If you would like to exchange the coupling to one or the other variant, please let us know. If the requested exchange coupling is enclosed with the model, we will convert it for you free of charge. If we have to use a coupling from our stock, you only pay the value of the coupling. This only applies to models purchased from us.

The N narrow gauge models are equipped with the Kato close coupling. Please coordinate other coupling requests with us.

Converting to Narrow

We assume that the locomotives are technically unchanged, so that a gauge change from standard to narrow gauge should be possible without any problems.

We cannot promise this in advance for the newly constructed freight wagons, but we consider it very likely that these are constructed following the usual Kato standards, so that a gauge change should be easily feasible here as well. This is subject to technical feasibility.

Please give us a few extra days to convert your models to Nm. Thank you for your understanding.
