Allegra-Advertizing Models

NOCH is launching two new advertising models of the Allegra via Kato, firstly in the current ABB advertising livery and secondly in the fictitious advertising livery as a blue Arosa Express train with a non-existent carriage number.

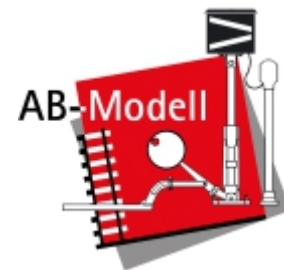

Delivery of the models has been announced for April/May. We will keep you up to date on the availability of the vehicles.

You can find pictures on page 1 of today's newsletter.

new Freight-train Models

Kato has announced further goods train rolling stock as a new product for autumn 2024: an unloaded stake wagon, stake wagon sets with wooden and RailCare container loads. The first hand samples were on display in the manufacturer's showcase at Intermodellbau.

All the vehicles shown here are available in both N and Nm scale.

Delivery

The delivery date is set for "autumn 2024".

Pre-orders for the individual vehicles and wagon sets are possible. Please also note our information on deliveries for N and Nm on the right-hand side.

We will inform all (pre-)purchasers by email as soon as the models have arrived and your vehicles are available for delivery.

Features

We have received a number of enquiries as to whether we could also supply special equipment for the announced models, in particular new vehicle numbers.

As we do not yet have any models, this has not yet been decided. The creation of decal sets is possible. However, we will not carry out the re-labelling due to a lack of time. We will keep you informed about details as soon as vehicles have reached us.

Deliveries for N and Nm

Many customers have already taken advantage of the reorganisation announced in our last newsletters, with which we intend to gradually withdraw from the plastic model business, to secure attractive prices from our business partner Marco Schilensky.

You can find his range of vehicles for both N and Nm gauge at www.meterspur-schweiz.com.

We will continue to offer special models and repaints in the future, provided we have enough time.

Thank you for your understanding.
